The fall convention was marvelous with blondes running around everywhere! With a lot of hard work from Pat McWilliams, GreeneBucs came away with the following awards:

- LOCAL CHARITIES
- NEWSLETTER
- VISIBILITY
- SCRAPBOOK
- COMMUNITY SERVICE
- PUBLIC RELATIONS
- PUBLICATIONS

Gussie Jones and Louise Gibson are now Lifetime Members.

Gussie Jones was nominated Ambuc of the Year and Sue Eakle was nominated Project Manager of the Year. Sandy Zimmerman will be the new Regional Big Hat Director and Mike Gray will be Regional Director for Midstates.

What a whirlwind of activity with P. Buckley Moss in town. GreeneBucs and the Canada Goose Gallery coordinated several events. There are lots of pictures for you to view. The events started Wednesday evening with a fundraising dinner. Ms. Moss took time out of her busy schedule to come a day earlier to be present at the GreeneBucs dinner which was held at the Eakles'. There were several displays of her newest art work for sale. A dessert contest was held with three winners: Pat McWilliams for the best fall theme, Sandy Zimmerman for best tasting (her famous Carrot Cake) and Marian Gebele for the best looking -a delicious bread pudding. Each winner received a gift certificate to Panera Bread. The event opened with a presentation of appreciation, GreeneBucs presenting Ms. Moss with a small model of an AMTRYKE mounted on a marble pedestal. Laura DeRamus owner of the Canada Goose Gallery also received recognition with another small tryke on a plaque. P. Buckley Moss spoke about her childhood and being considered mentally retarded because she was dyslexic. She holds children very dear to her heart and appreciates GreeneBucs' involvement with children with disabilities.

On Thursday night there was a candlelight vigil in downtown Waynesville in honor of Cancer Survivors. Joyce Peet talked about GreeneBucs' mission to the crowd. Friday night consisted of about 80 people at the "Keepin it Country" farm. An 8 piece band performed a variety of country tunes to the audience's delight. The event was held in a barn in which GreeneBuc members decorated with pink table cloth, pink bandanas, and painted pumpkins with pink bows all to honor cancer awareness. A live auction and silent auction were held with successful results. Cori, who received an AMTRYKE last year, attended this event with her grandmother. Cora had several surgeries and is now able to walk! She attended the Breast Cancer Walk on Saturday to be fitted for a new tryke. Several GreeneBucs members walked in this event on Saturday. Alan Eakle had the Ambility Trailer on site for walkers to view the variety of AMTRYKES. GreeneBuc members would like to express our gratitude to Pat McWilliams, P. Buckley Moss, Laura DeRamus and the many volunteers for all of their efforts to help GreeneBucs with their mission.!
